

Testimonial:

Charles W. ~ San Clemente, CA

I'm the sole proprietor of a recent business venture, new attorney and single dad. I embarked upon coaching because, even though things were going well in my life, new opportunities are requiring me to have an even better set of skills to balance all of the various complexities in my life.

As a coach, I have found that Stacy has taken the time to learn what is important to me and has tailored her coaching programs to help me refine my relationships with my clients, children, and significant other.

I will be continuing on with Stacy as my coach because she is genuinely interested in my challenges and successes, can adapt to my difficult schedule, and has a knack for showing me my blind spots in a constructive and kind way. She offers me personal choices that I had never considered and as a result, my viewpoint on what is possible is expanding.